

Call for Papers

Special focus on the conflict in Ukraine

The Journal of Conflict and Integration (JCI), Winter Volume of 2017

The Journal of Conflict and Integration (JCI), published by the Centre for Advanced Research in Integrated Future Society (CARIFS) is pleased to announce a call for papers. CARIFS is part of the Social Sciences Korea (SSK) project “Dynamics of Conflict and Integration” (led by Sangtu Ko at Yonsei University), sponsored by the National Research Foundation of Korea (NRF). The journal is published twice a year, in June and December.

AIMS and PURPOSE The JCI focuses on the basic idea, that conflict mechanisms in post-industrial societies are different from those in industrial societies, and thus we need to explore new approaches towards conflict management mechanisms. As structure and actors of state and society are changing, so does their relation towards each other. A conflict management mechanism, that had long been proven effective, may not work or even worsen conflicts in post-industrial societies.

SPECIAL FOCUS While we accept papers within JCI’s general aims and purposes we encourage authors to submit papers from various perspectives on the conflict in Ukraine.

SCOPE OF CONTRIBUTION The journal publishes original research articles (around 7,000 words) and book reviews (around 2500 words). The Journal also welcomes proposals of special issues, and critical literature review with a priori consultation with the editorial board.

SUBMISSION All contribution of papers is made to jci.journal@duksung.ac.kr. The due date for the 2017 Winter Volume is October 15, 2017. Please refer to the submission guide of the JCI at www.carifs.org/jci.

CONTACT All enquiries are to be addressed to jci.journal@duksung.ac.kr

Seongjin Kim, Editor, Professor in Political Science, Duksung Women’s University
Juri Kim, Associate Editor, Research Professor, Yonsei University